Local Development Performance Monitoring Report 2010-2011

The Department of Planning and Infrastructure has released its 2010-2011 Local Development Performance Monitoring report, which provides an overview of the performance of the NSW planning system and information on local and regional development determined by councils, private certifiers and Joint Regional Planning Panels.

This year's report is the sixth in the series. As in previous years, it provides detailed information on council development assessment including the number of council decisions and determination times. It also includes information on take up of statewide codes for residential, commercial and industrial development; performance of State Government referral agencies; and analysis of the second year of operations of the Joint Regional Planning Panels (Regional Panels) that determine regionally significant developments.

For further details refer to the 'What's New' section of the Department of Planning and Infrastructure's home web page. www.planning.nsw.gov.au
