Construction Industry Skills Needs

The Construction and Property Services Industry Skills Council (CPSISC) is responsible for providing advice to government on the skills and training needs for the sector.

As part of this role CPSISC is seeking industry feedback to inform its 2013-14 Environmental Scan (E-Scan). The E-Scan will develop a picture of the operational environment of the construction and property services sectors and the skills requirements over the coming years.

If you have a view on future skills needs for the industry and can spare five minutes to contribute to the stakeholder survey, follow this link: <https://www.surveymonkey.com/s/H2Q9NYV>

All participants will go into the draw to win one of three Kindle Touch eBook readers.

Survey responses and submissions are due no later than 3 November 2012.
